RICHIESTE DI PARTECIPAZIONE A MEETING INTERNAZIONALI / A INVIARE ARTICOLI SU RIVISTE SCIENTIFICHE

Ad Agosto 2024, è stata pubblicata sulla rivista Biomedicines (MDPI) ed indicizzata su PubMed la ricerca: “Potenziale terapeutico di un integratore biodinamico sulle ulcere da pressione cutanee: uno studio clinico randomizzato”, a cura, fra gli altri, del dott. Pasquale Ferorelli. A seguito di ciò l'interesse scientifico internazionale è stato rilevante. Qui di seguito sono riportate solo alcune fra le numerose email ricevute dal dott. Ferorelli, nel corso del 2025 (ve ne sono molte altre).

Da ogni parte del mondo arrivano inviti a partecipare a convegni internazionali su temi scientifici, e da molte testate scientifiche, presenti su PubMed, giungono richieste a pubblicare nuovi articoli.

I paesi da cui arrivano richiesta di partecipazione a convegni e a sottoscrivere articoli sono: Amsterdam, Parigi, Nizza, Grand Arenas, Barcellona, Valencia, Lisbona, Roma, Praga, Berlino, Stoccolma, Dubai (Emirati), Giappone (Osaka, Nara, Kobe), Cina (Shanghai), Singapore, USA (Nevada, Texas, California).

Oggetto: Therapeutic Potential of a Biodynamic Supplement o | Aging and Gerontology Congress from July 14-15, 2025 in Rome

Dear Dr. Pasquale Ferorelli,

I trust this message finds you in good health and spirits.

On behalf of the WCAG_2025 Organizing Committee, it is my pleasure to extend an official invitation for you to speak at the "2nd World conference on Ageing and Gerontology (WCAG_2025)." This is a hybrid event, scheduled for 14-15 July 2025, at the Hotel Roma Aurelia Antica in Rome, Italy, & online.

WCAG-2025 is aiming to become a premier international conference of note in the field of aging & gerontology. I am writing to ask whether you would be willing to present a talk on "Therapeutic Potential of a Biodynamic Supplement on Skin Pressure Ulcers: A Randomized Clinical Study" at the conference. Your invited talk will be 25 minutes long, including a 5-minute question & answer session.

Visit the conference website: <https://ageing-gerontology.org/>

We have not yet established on which day your talk will be scheduled; should you accept this invitation, there is some flexibility we can use to accommodate your scheduling preferences. As a gesture towards your agreement to attend the conference, we will provide two nights of accommodation at the conference venue. We appreciate your agreement to provide an abstract as early as possible to schedule your talk in the program Daer Dr. Ferorelli,

We contacted you on 25th of March, regarding a Special Issue entitled "Advances and Challenges in Food Safety and Healthy Nutrition", to be published in the journal Applied Sciences (ISSN 2076-3417, IF 2.5). Dr. Elżbieta Górńska-Horczyk, Dr. Magdalena Zalewska and Dr. Ewelina Pogorzelska are serving as Guest Editors for this issue. Based on your expertise in this field, we think you could make an excellent contribution. The scope of this Special Issue includes, but is not limited to, the following topics: producing health-promoting foods containing natural ingredients that are rich in biologically active substances, contributing to the improvements in the quality of life of consumers with diet-related diseases; quality systems in food production; food safety and control systems; food adulteration control methods.

*We look forward to hearing from you.
Kind regards,*

Dear Pasquale,

We have been recently tasked by one of our top pharmaceutical partners to seek novel collaboration proposals from academics and SMEs for one of their external partnering programs. Looking at your expertise, I thought it could be of your interest.

The pharmaceutical company invites researchers to submit proposals on innovative approaches to investigate and validate novel mechanisms underlying obesity pathogenesis, aiming to enable sustainable weight loss beyond active treatment. Topics include, but are not limited to: Identification and validation of central or peripheral mechanisms that contribute to obesity Use of primary cells, organoids, animal models, or patient-relevant samples to explore translatable insights

Computational approaches supporting mechanistic understanding and clinical relevance

Approaches that aim to address the metabolic set point or weight regain post-treatment

Based on your proposal, the company will engage in discussions with selected experts, potentially leading to a collaboration agreement. Funding will be provided for the duration of the collaboration (up to 250,000 euros for up to two years), along with opportunities to publish research findings in peer-reviewed journals.

Would you be interested in receiving more information about our pharma partner (company name, detailed information about the partnering program, collaboration types, etc.), and how to get in touch with them for a collaboration? It is completely free of charge.

For your information, Inospin has a network of 500+ innovation-driven leading companies (including half of top pharma) with active external R&D programs, which are available on dedicated partnering platforms where academics and SMEs can submit their proposals for collaboration.

Thank you,

Invitation to review "Supplementation of deficient essential amino acids for the control of pressure ulcers"

Dear Dr Ferorelli,

We have received a manuscript for Amino Acids that we think falls within your area of expertise.

Our reviewers are integral to ensuring we have the highest-quality publication.

We would greatly appreciate it if you could let us know if you are available to review by accepting or declining the invitation link below.

*Title: Supplementation of deficient essential amino acids for the control of pressure ulcers

Abstract: The aim of this review is to present the rationale for supplementing patients suffering from pressure ulcers with three specific essential amino acids, namely taurine, histidine and tryptophan. Pressure ulcers (PU) are a major and serious problem affecting millions of people. Risk assessment of PU development is considered an essential part of clinical practice. According to the Braden Scale, a popular predictive tool, risk factors of PU development are either extrinsic (related to pressure) or intrinsic (related to tissue tolerance). Malnutrition, frequently co-occurring with PU, is a modifiable risk factor. Dietary supplements currently recommended for supporting PU healing contain a high amount of protein and some additives (zinc, vitamin C, arginine). Unfortunately, many patients with PU suffer from chronic kidney disease and would not tolerate a high-protein diet. Amino acid profiling of the blood serum of PU patients has shown decreased concentrations of exogenous amino acids tryptophan, histidine and threonine. Their common feature is a low daily requirement, 4 to 15 mg/kg body weight. In animal experiments, various types of stress increase metabolic demand for these amino acids. On the other hand, stress significantly slows down wound healing, both in animals and in humans. These observations provided inspiration for a pilot clinical investigation to assess the effect of food composition containing histidine in the form of carnosine, plus threonine and tryptophan, on PU control. After six weeks patients receiving daily doses of the aforementioned food composition, compared to control patients, displayed a statistically significant reduction of the pressure ulcer area.

Oggetto: Advancing Your Skincare Development with Molecular Aging Insights

Hello Researcher,

In the absence of response to our earlier messages, we wanted to follow up one last time to highlight how our services can help connect molecular aging signatures with visible skin outcomes — a key step in translating biological science into product value.

How You Can Apply Our Services

Use telomere shortening data to differentiate between intrinsic and extrinsic aging effects

Investigate epigenetic drift for age-marking and ingredient responsiveness

Link oxidative stress profiles to skin brightness, elasticity, and firmness

Map protein turnover rates to understand dermal matrix degradation

Our Analytical Scope Covers

Assay Type	Skin-Relevant Insight
DNA/RNA Sequencing	Aging markers in dermal and epidermal cell lines
Protein Aggregation Assays	Signs of proteostasis breakdown in aged skin
Bioinformatics Pathway Analysis	Aging network disruptions tied to external insults (UV, pollutants)

Whether you are screening new compounds or validating formulation effects, we are equipped to support your scientific goals. Please feel free to reply with any questions or project ideas.

Warm regards,

Oggetto: Therapeutic Potential of a Biodynamic Supplement o | Physiotherapy Congress on November 13-14, 2025, in Lisbon, Portugal

*Respected Dr. Ferorelli, Pasquale,
I hope this email finds you well.*

We are delighted to extend a special invitation to you as a distinguished speaker at the "Global Conference on Physiotherapy, Physical Rehabilitation & Sports Medicine (PHYSIO-2025)," (in person and online) scheduled for November 13-14, 2025, in the beautiful city of Lisbon, Portugal.

I am writing to ask whether you would be willing to present a talk on "Therapeutic Potential of a Biodynamic Supplement on Skin Pressure Ulcers: A Randomized Clinical Study" at the conference as an invited speaker. Invited talks will be 25 minutes long, including a 5-minute question & answer session.

We are offering CPD points for your participation. To initiate the process and to secure your slot, please submit your abstract through the online submission portal at your earliest convenience. As a gesture towards your confirmation to attend the conference, we will provide two nights of accommodation at the venue hotel in Lisbon.

Abstract submission portal: <https://unitedresearchforum.com/sports-medicine-conference/abstract.php>

We look forward to an intellectually stimulating and enjoyable conference, and we hope you do too. We are trying our best to make this experience smooth.

Yours Sincerely,
Alex Greenspan | Conference Coordinator

Dear Ferorelli Pasquale,

This is a gentle follow-up. We sent a notification about your article submission on the specified date March 10, 2025.

We tried to reach you successfully, but we don't know whether we failed to reach you or you failed to receive our invitations.

If it happened unknowingly, please look at those emails and respond immediately with your publication requirements or manuscript submission to this email along with a cover letter.

Your reply is solicited to avoid follow-ups.

Regards,

Greetings Ferorelli Pasquale,

We tried multiple times but received no response from you. We'd like to contact you again as a polite reminder.

We're lacking one article for the new edition. Is it possible for you to provide us with an article for this edition of the Journal of Forensic Science and Research (ISSN: 2575-0186) on or before July 18, 2025

We accept all types of publications, including research, reviews, and case reports. If you have short notice, please offer a two-page opinion, mini-review, or case report. We hope a two-page article is not too time-consuming for you.

We are convinced that you will always support us. Please send a manuscript on ongoing research to this email along with a cover letter.

Note: Please note that upon submission of your article, all applicable policies, regulations, guidelines, and agreements of the publishing entity will be applied.

I am awaiting your response to avoid unwanted emails.

Please submit your manuscript as an attachment to this email
